

ABSTRACT

The user is enabled to upload, to a server on the Internet, information from a first contact data base in a first communications apparatus. The server manipulates the uploaded information and extracts or converts the format of the records for a second contact data base of a second communications apparatus.

5

10

15

20

25

30